

Predictive accuracy and ground-truth explanation recovery on semi-synthetic data

At virtually identical accuracy (spread 0.011) the quality of explanation differs fundamentally: logistic regression recovers the planted mechanism completely (Precision@3 = Recall@3 = 1.00), whereas tree-based models admit noise features into the explanation (0.33). Sign accuracy equals 1.00 for all algorithms.